

sam chapman

Sam is a vastly experience social worker and manager working in both local authority, voluntary and private sector settings over the years.

She has amassed a body of experience and a considerable reputation. She teaches regularly in FE and HE Social Work courses. In one authority alone she was social worker, lead protection trainer and children's workforce advisor with responsibilities for staff development.

Within DNA, Sam organises and leads on social work and social care training, and delivers training herself on Assessment and Analysis, Managing Practice Learning, Risk Assessment and Joint Investigation.
